PRESIDENT OREGON THANKS CAMPBELL

In the name of the government of Mexico, President Alvaro Obregon yesterday extended thanks to Governor Thomas E. Campbell for the part he played in the solution of the President's long outstanding problem of the cotton which left between 7,000 and 8,000 Mexican cotton pickers stranded in the Salt River valley.

The destitute condition of his people who for lack of funds were unable to return to Mexico and who could not procure work here, led Governor Obregon to make an appeal to the people of Phoenix to make an investigation.

The representative of the government, with the local Mexican consul and a committee of the chambers of commerce, held a series of conferences with Governor Campbell. The matter was satisfactorily adjusted when the cotton association assumed the debts due the Mexicans.

President Obregon on receiving a report of the adjustment wired Governor Campbell as follows:

"Received with satisfaction your message of the fifth. I am thankful for the good arrangements you have made to treat the Mexican matter. The attitude you have assumed in this delicate matter deserves our warmest commendation and in the name of my country I take pleasure in congratulating you, expressing our gratitude to the city commission last November and which was to have gone into effect on February 1. Prince filed a supersedeas bond of $1000 for the stay of execution.

Prince brought suit against the city of Phoenix and George Brinabois, chief of police, some time ago asking for a temporary injunction restraining the city from putting the ordinance into effect. At the hearing of the case several days ago, Judge Jencks issued an order dissolving the injunction and dismissed the suit. Prince alleged in the suit that he and others similarly situated would suffer great injury.

Following the decision of Judge Jencks, Chief Brinabois served notice on all taxicab drivers that the ordinance would be enforced and all violators prosecuted. The enforcement of the ordinance will now be held up until the appeal has been disposed of in the supreme court.

Word that an oil well which had been sunk in Calahan county, Tex., under the direction of a company financed by Phoenix and California men, with W. T. Sproule, local attorney, as president, and Clyde C. Downing, deputy clerk of the United States district court in Arizona, as secretary, has struck oil at a depth of 1,765 feet was received here yesterday. The telegram was sent by W. E. Norton, superintendent of the drilling operation.

Previous to striking oil the well, which had never been shot, was producing more than 2,000,000 feet of gas a day. The gas has been forcing itself through 30 feet of debris brought down by a cave-in in the well, and yesterday the oil flowed over the top of this debris and was baled out. The cave-in, it is said in the telegram, will be cleaned out today, when an idea of the flow will be gained.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Nelson Perry
Funeral services for Mrs. Nelson Perry, who died on Wednesday, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the chapel of A. L. Moore and Son. All Odd Fellows are requested to attend the funeral as the husband, Nelson Perry, is a member of the West Plains, Mo., Odd Fellows lodge.

Elmer C. Waddington
Elmer C. Waddington, aged 50 years, passed away Thursday morning at his home, 1215 Woodlawn avenue. Mr. Waddington was a banker at Argyle, Wis., who had been spending his winters in Phoenix for the past 16 years. During this last visit, which was his longest one, Mr. Waddington was accompanied by a nephew, Earl Waddington. The body will be shipped tonight for the old home at Argyle, Wis., for interment. It will be accompanied by the nephew.

Judge D. L. Cunningham, formerly chief justice of the State Supreme Court, has opened a general law office in the Chamber of Commerce building.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO DEBATE OPEN SHOP QUESTION TONIGHT

Merits of the open and closed shop plans of conducting American industry will be debated by high schools of Arizona tonight in the first of the district elimination contests. Phoenix is to hear one of these debates with Glendale high taking the affirmative and Phoenix high the negative of the much mooted question:

"Resolved: That the Policy of the Closed Shop Should be Adopted in American Industry."

The debate will be conducted in the high school auditorium, starting at 7:30 o'clock. The general public is cordially invited to attend. No admission fee will be charged.

Other high schools of the state holding membership in the Arizona Debating League also will debate on this subject tonight. Tempe and Mesa high schools have been paired in a debate on the south side.

Glendale high school, valley debating champion last year, will send an exceptionally strong team to Phoenix for tonight's debate. Phoenix was eliminated by Glendale last year in the contests for state championship honors and the local debating team hopes to even matters tonight.

Judges of the debate have been selected as follows: Miss Elsie Toles, state superintendent of public instruction; R. E. L. Shepherd, county attorney of Maricopa county; and Rev. G. D. Yeakum, pastor of the First Congregational church, Phoenix.

BLOCK ENFORCING OF TAXI ORDINANCE

By the filing of an appeal to the supreme court from the decision of Judge Jencks in the superior court in dissolving a temporary restraining order and dismissing the case, W. T. Prince with his wife, Cleo Prince, and others similarly situated, have secured a stay of execution and the police are again unable to enforce the taxicab ordinance passed by the city commission last November and which was to have gone into effect on February 1. Prince filed a supersedeas bond of $1000 for the stay of execution.

Prince brought suit against the city of Phoenix and George Brinabois, chief of police, some time ago asking for a temporary injunction restraining the city from putting the ordinance into effect. At the hearing of the case several days ago, Judge Jencks issued an order dissolving the injunction and dismissed the suit. OBTAINS JUDGMENT IN DIVORCE ACTION

By a decision handed down yesterday by Judge Stanford in the superior court, Velma V. George was given a judgment against her former husband, Walter L. George, as asked for in her petition for alimony, insofar as the petition affected the support of their minor child. The order granted Mrs. George attorney fees of $100 and $50 a month for the support of the child.

Mrs. George, in her petition, charged her former husband secured his divorce by means of fraud and asked that the decree given him be amended. She asked for $100 a month support money for herself and child and for one-half of the community property. Mrs. George alleged after George filed his divorce suit last March, he wrote her in Los Angeles that he had dismissed the suit. Relying on this statement, she claimed, she did not offer a defense to the suit and did not learn of the divorce until after the decree had been granted.

GILA COUNTY WILL MAINTAIN HIGHWAYS

That state highways of Gila county will be maintained by county funds until state funds are available was the word brought to Phoenix yesterday by County Engineer Milton. Mr. Milton said that until such a time as the state could maintain its highways in Gila county, county funds would be available.

The engineer came to Phoenix for a consultation with the state highway department on several important matters. While here he made arrangements for the purchase of equipment to be used in Gila county on road work.
